

HistoryGeo.com - notes on version 2

Updated July 2, 2015

[The HUGE Listing by State and County of the number of Parcels and People mapped in the First Landowners Project begins on Page 7]

Version 2 of HistoryGeo.com is a radical improvement from the version you may have become accustomed to.

We could not be more excited about releasing this to the historical and genealogical researching public. Over the years, we have compiled and created vast amounts of data about our nation's original landowners in the public land states and Texas. The problem became one of not being able to get that data out to you quickly enough, and now that problem is solved (or at least very much minimized).

To help you understand what HistoryGeo.com Version 2 means to you, below we describe:

- Content Additions to Version 2
- New Features in Version 2
- States being Mapped Soon
- Features Improved in Version 2
- In the Future . . .
- Features Discontinued in Version 2
- If You Spot Missing Landowner Parcels . . .
- Limitations of Version 2

Content Additions to Version 2

1. Version 2 contains over twelve million original landowners in a single map. In contrast, version 1 contained about 2.4 million people scattered among thousands of maps.
2. ALL of Texas's original landowners are mapped and indexed on HistoryGeo.com.
3. The publishing of new original landowner maps will no longer depend on Arphax Publishing first releasing a new book for the county in which particular land resides. You no longer have to wait for us to publish either a Family Maps or Texas Land Survey Maps title, before you can see original landowners on HistoryGeo.com; quite the contrary, in fact . . .

New Features in Version 2

- Ability to Print Current View
- iPad and Android (and other tablets) Compatible – Just open in your favorite browser.
- The First Landowners Project (“flo” for short): original landowners in both public land states (numerous) and Texas are combined into a single presentation. This is where over 7 million landowners’ locations can be viewed.
- States Covered by Version 2
 - Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming (Texas is completed; other states listed have been mapped to the degree of about 90% of what the Bureau of Land Management has indexed)
- Any Markers, Snapshots, or Migrations created by you in the First Landowners Project (and some upcoming projects) will now be geo-referenced, meaning that this information can be used in most any geographic system or map.
- “My People” feature, where you can easily add located landowners to a list of people, so you can easily locate their parcels in the future.
- Parcel metadata contains much more information than in the past. Warrantees are now listed for Military Warrants, as well as links to both Google maps and to patents’ source documents at the Bureau of Land Management or Texas General Land Office. Simply single-click on a parcel of land while in the First Landowner viewer and you’ll see what we mean.

Features Improved in Version 2

Markers

In the First Landowners Project, you can add markers even to places where we have no landowner parcels drawn. For instance, mark communities in Georgia, New York, Virginia, where you know your ancestors came from. Later, when we allow you to draw parcels anywhere in the world, you will have already done some of the work in locating these general areas.

The interface is MUCH simpler. Adding information about places on maps is a snap; adding web-links (pages, images, etc.) takes just a few seconds.

Markers are all geo-referenced in the First Landowner Project, so you will later be able to apply that marker or just the latitude and longitude to another map layer or even a third-party tool at a later date.

Migrations

You can now use pre-created markers as points along a migration.

Migration points can now be placed on an exact spot, not just at a county-level.

Snapshots (bookmarks)

Snapshots are now geo-referenced (exact latitude and longitude), so later tools will allow you to re-use locations saved in your snapshots

Populated Place Search

Now available from a button on the left side of the viewer. Autocompletes once you start typing the place-name

Cemetery Search

Now available from a button on the left side of the viewer. Autocompletes once you start typing the cemetery name

Latitude/Longitude Locator

Now available from a button on the left side of the viewer.

In the Future:

More extensive search Methods

- Full name
- Multiple names
- One trick that we're not going to mention here, but let's just say it's a first of its kind. We've got to save a few surprises!

Subsequent Parcel-Drawing (by you)

You will be able to draw a layer of your own "subsequent" landowners in the public land states (or Texas) using our tools that will help you draw them in the right spot, AND also tools for drawing parcels in the former colonial states (state-land states) using metes and bounds tools.

Marker Market

Here's the idea: thousands (and later millions) of markers get shared by our users or by our partner researchers. You will be able to search for these by title and/or description and when you find some that you interest you, you will be able to simply view them then or mark them as favorites or “adopted” (we’re still working on the details), so you can get to these quickly in the future. We’re still working on the exact methodology, but you get the gist. This is being developed in earnest, as we write this.

Historical Theme Pages

Related to the Marker Market will be our Historical Theme Pages, which involves having a web-page with multiple markers (and optionally, migrations) described in a single narrative or time-line. You will then have the choice of simply viewing them or “adopting” them for your account, picking or choosing ones of interest to you, etc.

A common example would be one where all the markers and migrations relate to the descendants or ancestors of a particular person, and are described in a single page

Example:

Page title: Descendants of Johannes Jung (John Young) of Washington County, Kentucky)

Items:

Descendant locations (markers)

Son . . .

Daughter . . .

Granddaughter . . .

Grandson . . .

Migration from Johannes to Descendant President Harry Truman

Migration from Johannes to Descendant Greg Boyd

Another fun example would be to pull together the places involved with a famous person or group.

Ideas we’d like to see marked up:

Bonnie and Clyde – their Crimes and their Families

Daniel Boone’s Homes and Travels

Families along the National Road, the Natchez Trail, the Wilderness Trail, etc.

International Coverage

There is still a lot of work to be done here, but this is in the works.

Photo uploading

While we may do this again in the future, at present, we'd rather you simply link to photos on other sites, rather than upload them to HistoryGeo.com. We are map-masters, but we concede that there are some pretty amazing sites out there, happy to host millions of photos and in a way that the broader web public will find them. We like sites like Flickr (Yahoo owned) and we know some folks like Google+/Picassa and PhotoBucket.com.

Sharing of markers with Friends

We have a better system that we are working on and will announce soon. See the "In the Future" section above, for more information.

If You Spot Missing Landowner Parcels . . .

First Landowners Project map data does not spring from book data, so if you find a parcel not yet drawn online that you know was in one of our books (these are almost always fractional sections or otherwise oddly shaped sections, usually along rivers), simply email us a request at info@historygeo.com and you'll see parcels appear in that area in no time. These parcels are not automatically drawn and need a little personal touch on our part. We'll get to all of them eventually, but you can help us prioritize these parcels in our ongoing mapping work.

Limitations of Version 2

Speed – Not quite as fast, but . . .

Version 1 of our system is loved by many researchers, and the driving force behind its development was speed. Its technology remains state of the art and has amazed many tech experts when it comes to the speed with which we could render large maps. BUT, we employed non-standard techniques that did not support portable device usage, simple printing, and a few other features that many researchers really want.

All that to say that version 2 WILL empower people who missed features like printing, portable device usage, and geo-referenced features, etc.

Unfortunately, that power comes at the expense of record-setting speed. This system is not as fast. Fast enough, in our minds (and will get faster in time), but you will have to wait a few seconds for maps to render from time to time. We think the rich information being loaded onto your screen will be well worth the wait.

Counties in Which Parcels Reside

Counties identified in searches are determined by geographic means (we do not rely on what government sources said), and if a parcel lies along a boundary of a county, it may be shown to be in the county NEXT to it, rather than the one its really considered to be in. We're working on this. This will only affect you while in the "County Browser" feature, or when reviewing the details of a parcel.

In short, this is only a minor and rare annoyance and should not hamper you from finding people you are trying to locate. Using the broad "Surname search" at the top of the FLO Viewer will help you find people in an area of the state, no matter what county they are in.

[Note: in addition to below, there are also thousands of lots that are linked to the sections in which they are contained and whose owners are indexed, who are not included in the parcel counts below.]

30 States are itemized in the following pages displaying State, County, People-Count, and Parcel-Count (land parcels): Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.
